Campaign Goals

- Awareness — Introduce Blu Foundation and the concept of structured etiquette education to parents, teachers, and the general public across Bangladesh.
- Normalisation — Make polite behaviour aspirational and culturally celebrated for Bangladeshi children, countering social media content that normalises rudeness or aggression.
- Partnership Enquiries — Drive primary school principals and education administrators to submit school partnership enquiry forms via the Blu Foundation website.
- Community Building — Create a growing online community of parents and teachers who actively reinforce etiquette at home and in classrooms.

Target Audiences

Audience Segment	Platform Focus	Description
Parents of Class 1–5 children	Facebook (primary)	Urban and semi-urban parents, age 28–45, active Facebook users; primary decision-makers for extracurricular enrolment
Primary school teachers	Facebook, YouTube	Class teachers and head teachers who influence school-level programmes
Youth age 12+	TikTok, YouTube Shorts	Older siblings, student council members; peer influencers for younger children
General public	Facebook, YouTube	Grandparents, community leaders, educated general audience; supporters who share content and build organic reach
Donors and institutional partners	LinkedIn	Corporate CSR officers, international development organisations, education NGOs

2. Research Foundation

Evidence Base

This campaign is grounded in four evidence sources that collectively justify both the problem and the social-media-first strategy.

[SOURCE_BD_13] — Social media usage patterns of Bangladeshi secondary school students Bangladeshi secondary school students are heavy social media consumers, with Facebook and YouTube dominating daily usage. Content exposure during formative years directly influences attitudes, vocabulary, and behavioural expectations. The Bhadra Bangladesh campaign treats this existing high-use environment as an asset rather than an obstacle: if students are already online, the campaign brings positive behavioural content into the feed rather than asking students to step away from screens.

[SOURCE_BD_14] — Misuse of social media by teenagers in Bangladesh

Research documenting social media misuse among Bangladeshi teenagers identifies a pattern in which exposure to aggressive, disrespectful, or uncivil online content is associated with declining interpersonal manners in offline settings. This source provides the problem diagnosis: the absence of positive behavioural modelling online creates a vacuum that is filled by content that normalises incivility. The Bhadra Bangladesh campaign exists to fill that vacuum with alternatives.

[SOURCE_BD_16] — Gen Z attitudes shaped by social media norms

This is the strategic cornerstone of the campaign. Social media algorithms serve users more of what they engage with. If polite behaviour, respectful language, and etiquette-forward content accumulates engagement signals (likes, shares, comments, saves), the algorithm will distribute it further — making good manners progressively more visible as a norm. The insight from [SOURCE_BD_16] is used offensively: the same mechanism that has spread negative behavioural norms can be captured to spread positive ones. Every share of a Bhadra Bangladesh post is a micro-intervention in algorithmic norm-setting.

[SOURCE_ALT_05] — UNICEF Social Behaviour Change (SBC) Guidance

UNICEF's Social Behaviour Change framework confirms that behaviour change communication campaigns work most effectively when they (a) reach audiences through platforms they already trust and use, (b) use peer modelling and aspirational social proof, and (c) engage community gatekeepers (parents, teachers, religious leaders) as amplifiers rather than targets alone. The Bhadra Bangladesh campaign applies all three principles: using existing platforms, modelling polite behaviour through relatable characters and real children, and activating parents and teachers as community champions.

Strategic Rationale

If social media shapes behavioural norms negatively, it can also be used to shape them positively.

The Bhadra Bangladesh campaign does not ask families to reduce screen time. It asks Blu Foundation to become the most compelling etiquette-positive voice in the Bangladeshi social media feed — creating a positive feedback loop where engagement with good-manners content trains algorithms to show more of it.

3. Platform Strategy

Platform	Primary Audience	Content Type	Posting Frequency	Language
Facebook	Parents, teachers, general public	Photo posts, short videos (1–3 min), carousels, Facebook Lives, community group posts	5 posts/week (main page) + daily group activity	Bengali (primary), English (secondary for reach)

YouTube	Teachers, parents, general public	Long-form campaign videos (3–5 min), classroom etiquette tutorials, expert interviews, YouTube Shorts	1 long-form video/week + 2–3 Shorts/week	Bengali with English subtitles
TikTok	Youth age 12+, general public	15–30 second challenge videos, trending audio with etiquette visuals, duet-friendly formats	7 posts/week (daily)	Bengali (conversational), some English hooks
Instagram	Secondary: urban parents, youth, design-led audience	Reels, static quote cards, Stories, Highlights	4 posts/week + daily Stories	Bengali and English bilingual captions
LinkedIn	Donors, CSR partners, education NGOs, school administrators	Programme updates, impact reports, partnership announcements, thought leadership	2 posts/week	English (primary)

Platform-Specific Notes

Facebook is the highest-priority platform for Blu Foundation's primary audiences. Facebook's ad targeting tools allow precise demographic segmentation by district, age, parental status, and interest category — enabling cost-effective reach to Bangladeshi parents. The Facebook Group (see Section 9) acts as the community anchor.

TikTok is the primary platform for youth audience penetration (aligned with [SOURCE_BD_16] findings on Gen Z norm-shaping). Short, challenge-based formats with trending sounds maximise organic algorithmic reach. TikTok content should be distinctly "younger" in tone than Facebook — energetic, fast-paced, humorous.

YouTube serves a dual purpose: a library of durable campaign content (tutorials, stories, expert panels) that continues to generate views long after posting, and a Shorts channel to capture younger viewers already using YouTube as an entertainment platform.

LinkedIn is not a mass-reach platform in Bangladesh but serves a critical function: it is where corporate CSR decision-makers and international NGO partners discover and evaluate organisations. All LinkedIn content should position Blu Foundation as a credible, impact-driven institution.

Child reaches for a glass of water.

[BEAT 2 — 0:07–0:18]

Mother hands the child the glass. Child takes it with two hands.

CHILD (OC, Bengali): "ধন্যবাদ, আম্মু।" [NEEDS BENGALI TRANSLATION — approximate: "Thank you, Ammu."]

Mother's face — pride, warmth. She speaks to camera.

MOTHER (OC, Bengali): "ছোট কথা। বড় পরিবর্তন।" [NEEDS BENGALI TRANSLATION — approximate: "Small words. Big change."]

[BEAT 4 — 0:26–0:30]

End card: Blu Foundation logo, website URL, #BhadraBangladesh

VO: "Blu Foundation. Learn more at [website URL]."

[VO DIRECTION] Warm, unhurried female voice. Not announcer-style — conversational, like a trusted older sister or aunt. Bengali register: standard Dhaka urban, not overly formal.

Script Template B — "Be the Bhadra One"

Target: Youth age 12+ | Platform: TikTok | Duration: 30 seconds

[VISUAL DIRECTION] Fast-cut, bright, energetic. School corridor or playground setting. Trending audio (instrumental — check current TikTok Bangladesh trending sounds at time of production). Subtitles on all Bengali dialogue.

[BEAT 1 — 0:00–0:04]

Text hook appears on screen over B-roll of school corridor:

ON-SCREEN TEXT: "যে কাজটা সবাই করতে ভুলে যায়..." [NEEDS BENGALI TRANSLATION — approximate: "The thing everyone forgets to do..."]

[BEAT 2 — 0:04–0:12]

Scenario 1 (2 sec): Student accidentally bumps into another student in corridor. Stops. Smiles.

STUDENT A (OC): "সরি ভাই / সরি আপু!" [NEEDS BENGALI TRANSLATION — approximate: "Sorry, bhai / sorry, apu!"]

Scenario 2 (2 sec): Student holds the door open for a teacher.

ON-SCREEN TEXT: "এটাই Bhadra।" [NEEDS BENGALI TRANSLATION — approximate: "This is Bhadra."]

Scenario 3 (2 sec): Student thanks the canteen server.

[BEAT 3 — 0:12–0:22]

Direct-to-camera. Energetic teen presenter (or student volunteer, age 14–17).

PRESENTER (OC, Bengali): "এটা কঠিন না। বড় কিছু না। এটাই তোমাকে আলাদা করে।" [NEEDS BENGALI TRANSLATION — approximate: "It's not hard. It's not complicated. It's what sets you apart."]

ON-SCREEN TEXT: #BhadraChallenge #BhadraBangladesh

[BEAT 4 — 0:22–0:30]

End card with challenge prompt:

ON-SCREEN TEXT: "তোমার Bhadra moment দেখাও। Tag করো @BluFoundation।" [NEEDS BENGALI TRANSLATION — approximate: "Show your Bhadra moment. Tag @BluFoundation."]

[VO DIRECTION] No voiceover — all on-camera dialogue. Presenter energy should feel like a friend, not a teacher. Subtitle every line.

Script Template C — "Teachers Make a Difference"

Target: Teachers | Platform: YouTube (also clipped to Facebook) | Duration: 30-second hook (for a 2–3 minute full version)

[VISUAL DIRECTION] Classroom setting — natural light, real primary classroom or close set. A teacher (played by or featuring a real willing teacher). Warm, documentary-style colour grade. No fancy production — authenticity over polish.

[BEAT 1 — 0:00–0:08]

Teacher at board. Turns to camera.

TEACHER (OC, Bengali): "আমার ক্লাসে ৪৫ জন বাচ্চা আছে। আমি কিছু বদলাতে পারি?" [NEEDS BENGALI TRANSLATION — approximate: "I have 45 children in my class. Can I change anything?"]

Pause. Slight smile.

TEACHER (OC): "পারি।" [NEEDS BENGALI TRANSLATION — approximate: "Yes, I can."]

[BEAT 2 — 0:08–0:18]

Cut to: classroom activity. Children greet each other. A child says "sorry" to a classmate after an incident. Teacher watches with quiet satisfaction.

VO (Bengali, warm male voice): "একজন শিক্ষকের একটি সংকল্প। একটি ক্লাসের পরিবর্তন।" [NEEDS BENGALI TRANSLATION — approximate: "One teacher's decision. One class transformed."]

[BEAT 3 — 0:18–0:26]

Teacher to camera again.

TEACHER (OC): "এটাই আমি করি। এটাই Blu Foundation করে।" [NEEDS BENGALI TRANSLATION — approximate: "This is what I do. This is what Blu Foundation does."]

[BEAT 4 — 0:26–0:30]

End card: Blu Foundation logo, school partnership enquiry URL.

VO: "Bring Blu Foundation to your school. [partnership URL]"

[VO DIRECTION] VO: confident, warm male voice — Bengali standard register. Teacher on-camera: if using a real teacher, minimal scripting is better — give them the beats and let them speak naturally. Natural hesitation is more credible than polished performance.

Ad Copy 3 — LinkedIn Post (Donor/Partner Outreach)

Objective: Institutional awareness, partnership enquiries, donor interest Format: Single post with link Audience: CSR professionals, education sector leaders, NGO networks, LinkedIn Bangladesh

Post Text (English):

Bangladesh has 17 million primary school children. Most will spend 5 years in a classroom before they learn how to greet an adult, hold a door, or resolve a conflict politely.

Blu Foundation is changing that — through structured etiquette and manners education delivered directly in primary school classrooms (Class 1–5), building habits that academic curricula don't cover.

We are now launching the Bhadra Bangladesh social media awareness campaign — a 12-week initiative to normalise good manners as a cultural aspiration for Bangladeshi children and their families.

We are seeking:

- School partners interested in integrating our programme
- CSR sponsors aligned with education and social development goals
- Institutional partners in the education and child development sector

If your organisation is working toward a better-behaved, more civil next generation in Bangladesh, we would welcome a conversation.

7. Hashtag Strategy

Primary Hashtags (Use on every post)

Hashtag	Language	Purpose
#BhadraBangladesh	English/Bengali transliteration	Master campaign identifier — all content tagged
#BluFoundation	English	Brand identifier — all content tagged

Secondary Hashtags (Rotate by content type)

Hashtag	Language/Translation	Use When
#MannersMatter	English	General awareness posts
#ভদ্রবাংলাদেশ	Bengali [NEEDS BENGALI TRANSLATION — verify Bengali script rendering]	Bengali-primary posts on Facebook

#ShishurShiksha	Bengali transliteration (Children's Education) [NEEDS BENGALI TRANSLATION]	Education-focused content
#NaitikataShiksha	Bengali transliteration (Ethics Education) [NEEDS BENGALI TRANSLATION]	Values/character content
#ParentingBangladesh	English	Parent-targeted content
#BangladeshEducation	English	School partnership content, LinkedIn posts
#SocialImpactBD	English	Donor/partner content on LinkedIn

Campaign-Specific Hashtags

Hashtag	Language	Purpose
#BhadraChallenge	English/transliteration	UGC challenge — Weeks 9–10 and ongoing
#BhadraKid	English/transliteration	Parent submissions — "share your child's polite moment"

Hashtag Usage Rules

- Facebook: Use 3–5 hashtags maximum per post. Overuse reduces reach on Facebook's algorithm.
- Instagram: Use 10–20 hashtags per post. Include a mix of high-volume (#MannersMatter) and niche (#BhadraBangladesh) tags.
- TikTok: 3–6 hashtags. Always include at least one trending Bangladeshi hashtag alongside campaign tags.
- LinkedIn: 5–8 hashtags. Professional English hashtags only.
- YouTube: Include all relevant hashtags in video description. First 3 hashtags appear above the video title.

8. Influencer Engagement Framework

Tier 1 — Micro-Influencers (10,000–100,000 followers)

Profile: Parenting bloggers, education content creators, school-based content accounts, family lifestyle creators based in Bangladesh (Dhaka, Chittagong, Sylhet, Rajshahi, Khulna preferred for geographic spread).

Why this tier: Per [SOURCE_ALT_05] SBC guidance, micro-influencers have higher audience trust and engagement rates than celebrities. For behaviour change communication — where credibility matters more than reach — a parenting micro-influencer saying "my child learned to say please because of Blu Foundation" is more persuasive than a celebrity endorsement.

Engagement approach:

- Identify: Search Facebook/Instagram/TikTok for hashtags #BangladeshParenting #DhakaParents #BangladeshMom #BangladeshDad — manually review top creators
- Approach: Warm DM or email, introduce Blu Foundation's mission, offer collaboration
- Brief: Provide full content brief (see below) + 2-week turnaround
- Compensation: Content gifting (Blu Foundation educational materials, branded kit) + social recognition; no cash payment at Tier 1 unless budget allows

Minimum 5 Tier 1 partnerships targeted for campaign launch.

Tier 2 — Mid-Tier Influencers (100,000–500,000 followers)

Profile: Lifestyle and family content creators with established Bangladesh audiences. May cover cooking, home, family travel, fashion — but must have family/child-positive content history.

Why this tier: Broader reach to parents who do not follow education-specific accounts. Mid-tier influencers on TikTok and Facebook can generate significant organic amplification at comparatively low cost versus celebrity.

Engagement approach:

- Identify: Review Facebook Pages and TikTok accounts with 100K–500K Bangladeshi followers; cross-check engagement rate (target >3% engagement — bot-heavy accounts will have high followers, low engagement)
- Approach: Formal email outreach to business email listed in profile bio
- Brief: Full content brief + 3-week turnaround + one revision round
- Compensation: Paid partnership — rate to be negotiated [FOUNDER INPUT REQUIRED: influencer budget and any existing personal network connections]

Target 2–3 Tier 2 partnerships for Weeks 3–10 of campaign.

Tier 3 — Celebrity Ambassador (if budget allows)

Profile: A Bangladeshi cultural figure with established family-values public image. Suitable categories include: nationally respected actor or actress who is also a public parent, cricketer with family-forward public persona, television presenter with education/children's content background.

Why this tier: A single celebrity endorsement can generate earned media (news coverage, organic shares) that delivers reach no paid advertising budget can replicate. Even one post from a respected public figure can reframe Bhadra Bangladesh from "NGO campaign" to "national movement."

Considerations:

- Celebrity involvement requires highest cultural sensitivity review — any controversy around the ambassador reflects on Blu Foundation
- Fee negotiation may require formal MOU and invoicing
- Recommend a one-time "Brand Ambassador Launch" post rather than ongoing contract for budget efficiency

[FOUNDER INPUT REQUIRED: influencer budget and any existing personal network connections — particularly any personal relationship with any public figure that could serve as a warm introduction]

Content Brief Template for All Influencer Tiers

Deliverable: [e.g., 1 x TikTok video, 30 seconds + 2 x Instagram Stories]

WHAT WE WANT YOU TO SHARE:

Blu Foundation teaches manners and etiquette to primary school children (Class 1–5) in Bangladesh. We believe good manners are the foundation of a better society – and that they must be taught deliberately, not assumed.

OUR AUDIENCE:

Parents of young children, teachers, and young people who care about how Bangladesh's next generation treats each other.

YOUR ANGLE:

Tell your audience why you believe good manners matter – through your own personal story, your experience as a parent/teacher/young person, or your reaction to what Blu Foundation does.

MANDATORY INCLUSIONS:

- Mention "Blu Foundation" by name
- Include hashtags: #BhadraBangladesh #BluFoundation + [tier-appropriate secondary tags]
- Include a call to action directing audience to [URL or specific action]
- Tag @BluFoundation [insert handle]

WHAT TO AVOID:

- Do not make claims about academic outcomes that cannot be verified

All content must be submitted to Blu Foundation for review at least 48 hours before posting. We will respond within 24 hours with approval or one round of revisions.

DISCLOSURE:

All paid partnerships must be disclosed per platform guidelines (e.g., Instagram "Paid Partnership" label, TikTok "Ad" disclosure). Gifting-only collaborations should still be disclosed as "gifted" in captions.

9. Community Building Strategy

Facebook Group: "Bhadra Parents — ভদ্র অভিভাবক"

Group type: Closed (members must request to join — reviewed by admin) Language: Bengali (primary), English allowed

Description: A community for parents across Bangladesh who believe in raising polite, respectful, and confident children. Moderated by Blu Foundation. [NEEDS BENGALI TRANSLATION for group description]

Why a closed group: A closed group creates a sense of belonging and safety — parents are more likely to share personal stories and ask genuine questions in a closed community than on a public page. The group also provides Blu Foundation with a direct, algorithm-independent channel to its most engaged audience.

Launch strategy:

- Seed the group in Week 1 with 50–100 founding members (Blu Foundation team, partner school contacts, early followers)
- Post daily in the group during Weeks 1–4 to establish the habit of engagement

- Invite all users who comment on campaign posts to join the group
- Pin a welcome post from the founder

Ongoing group content:

Content Type	Frequency	Description
Tip of the Week	Weekly (Monday)	Single actionable manners tip for parents to try at home
Question prompt	Weekly (Wednesday)	"How did your child surprise you with good manners this week?"
Expert resource share	Bi-weekly	Article, video, or infographic on child behaviour and etiquette
Milestone celebration	Monthly	Campaign reach update, challenge winner announcement
Facebook Live simulcast	Monthly	Live sessions (see below) broadcast into the group first

Monthly Live Sessions with Experts

Format: Facebook Live, 45–60 minutes, first broadcast into the group then saved to the page Cadence: Once per month, starting Month 2 (Week 5 or 6) Host: Blu Foundation representative, with guest expert

Recommended guest expert categories:

- Child psychologist with Dhaka practice — discussing the psychological basis of manners and social behaviour
- Primary school head teacher — sharing classroom etiquette strategies
- Child development specialist or UNICEF/Save the Children Bangladesh representative
- Islamic scholar (for sessions touching on akhlaq / Islamic etiquette values, reaching religiously observant families) — requires Islamic scholar advisory review (see Section 12)

11. Paid Advertising Budget Allocation

Overview

[FOUNDER INPUT REQUIRED: confirm advertising budget — minimum recommended is BDT 50,000 for the full 12-week launch campaign. See allocation below.]

All figures below assume a BDT 50,000 total budget as the recommended minimum. If a higher budget is available, all allocations scale proportionally.

Budget Allocation by Platform

Platform	Allocation	BDT Amount (at 50K total)	Purpose
Facebook / Instagram Ads	60%	BDT 30,000	Parent/teacher targeting; retargeting engaged audiences; page follower growth
YouTube Pre-roll	25%	BDT 12,500	Video awareness campaigns; teacher/parent audience pre-roll before relevant content
TikTok Promoted Posts	15%	BDT 7,500	Youth audience #BhadraChallenge amplification; campaign intro video boost
Total	100%	BDT 50,000

Facebook/Instagram Ad Spend — Weekly Schedule

Period	Spend	Priority
Weeks 1–2 (Launch)	BDT 8,000	Campaign intro video boost; page awareness
Weeks 3–6 (Engagement)	BDT 10,000	Stories of Bhadra; Teacher Spotlight

Total Facebook/Instagram	BDT 30,000

Targeting Parameters (Facebook Ads Manager)

Parameter	Settings
Location	Bangladesh — all divisions; optionally add district-level targeting for Dhaka, Chittagong, Sylhet first
Age	25–50 (parent/teacher audiences); 16–24 for youth-targeted TikTok/Instagram ads
Languages	Bengali, English (Bangladesh)
Interests	Parenting, Education, Primary school, Children's education, Family values
Behaviours	Parents with young children (Facebook parenting behaviour category)
Custom Audiences	Retarget video viewers (watched >50% of any campaign video); website visitors via Meta Pixel

Notes on Budget

- BDT 50,000 is a lean budget. Organic content quality and community management are more important than ad spend for this campaign's long-term success.
- If a donor or CSR sponsor can fund a specific activation (e.g., the #BhadraChallenge campaign), treat it as a sponsored boost and acknowledge the sponsor in content where appropriate.
- Do not spend any ad budget before the Blu Foundation Facebook Page and website are fully set up, branded, and have at least 5 posts published. Advertising to an empty page wastes spend.

12. Content Production Workflow

Production Decision: In-House vs. Agency

[FOUNDER INPUT REQUIRED: content production resource decision — the following two models are outlined for founder review.]

Option A — In-House Production (Recommended for launch phase)

Role	Responsibility	Estimated Time Commitment
Social Media Manager	Calendar management, posting, community management, reporting	Full-time or 3–4 days/week
Content Creator / Video Producer	Short-form video production, photo shoots, Reels/TikToks	3–4 days/week
Bengali Copywriter	All Bengali captions, script translations, ad copy	2 days/week or freelance
Graphic Designer	Carousel slides, quote cards, branding consistency	2–3 days/week or freelance

Advantage: Lower cost, direct control, faster turnaround. Requires Blu Foundation to hire or allocate these roles.

Option B — Agency/Freelancer Model

Engage a Dhaka-based social media agency (or a small team of freelancers) to produce content to a brief. Blu Foundation retains approval authority.

Advantage: Lower internal HR overhead; access to specialist skills. Risk: higher cost, possible loss of brand consistency, dependency on external team.

Recommendation: In-house for community management and copywriting (tone of voice cannot be outsourced effectively); freelance for video production and graphic design.

Review and Approval Process

All content must pass through the following gate before publishing:

Turnaround SLA:

- Routine posts: 3 business days from draft to approval
- Time-sensitive posts (e.g., trending moment response): 24-hour expedited review
- Paid ad creative: 5 business days (allows time for detailed review before budget is committed)

Bangladesh Cultural Sensitivity Review Gate

Every piece of content must be reviewed against the following checklist before approval:

- ☐ Does the content represent the diversity of Bangladesh? (district, urban/rural, economic background)
- ☐ Are all children depicted with appropriate clothing and appearance for a family-values audience?
- ☐ Does any content inadvertently exclude or stereotype by religion (Muslim majority, Hindu minority, Buddhist minority communities in Bangladesh)?
- ☐ Is the Bengali language register appropriate? (Avoid overly formal/archaic Bengali that feels distant from everyday urban parents; avoid slang that may be inappropriate for a children's education brand)
- ☐ Does any content reference gender roles in ways that may be controversial? (Review against the brand's own values position)
- ☐ Are all child participants covered by signed parental/guardian consent forms?
- ☐ Has the content been checked for any unintentional political connotations? (Bangladesh's political environment requires constant awareness)

Who conducts this review: The Bengali Copywriter and one member of the Blu Foundation leadership team (ideally the founder or a Board member with Bangladesh cultural expertise).

Islamic Scholar Advisory Review

For any content that:

- References Islamic values, akhlaq (moral character), adab (Islamic etiquette), or Quranic/Hadith sources
- Features Islamic dress, prayer, or religious settings
- Is intended for Eid or Ramadan campaigns

The content must additionally be reviewed by an Islamic scholar or Islamic education advisor. This protects Blu Foundation from unintentional misrepresentation of Islamic teachings and builds trust with religiously observant families, who represent the majority of Blu Foundation's target audience.

[FOUNDER INPUT REQUIRED: content production resource decision — identify and designate an Islamic scholar or Islamic education advisor as an advisory reviewer for relevant content]
